A set of two plans setting out the distances have been submitted in the representation to illustrate this, these are appended.            Want to know what type of dwelling is being proposed as it has potential massive consequences            The siting of the dwelling is the most important issue.            The separation distance between the existing house and the position of the new dwelling is less than 12m. This plan location invades residential and private amenity and should not be approved in its current location. Representation sets out local separation distances; <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Dear Committee Members

I wish to write a short note, about not attending the meeting with the planning department, with reference to the outcome of November's committee meeting.

The offer on the table from the planning department (as outlined in the attached email from Tim Wood) was for 50% affordable housing.

After the meeting I carried out my own viability appraisal and then contacted the landowner to run through the findings. Given the new plan will be given weight at some point next year, he was unwilling to compromise on land values.

My conditional contract has now lapsed with the landowner, so I'm now in a very difficult negotiating position.

I am not a developer who shies away from building affordable housing, my last two sites in Ryedale have provided 14 affordable units. However, the expectations of the landowner, given to him by his advisers (which also is our stance), is that the site will gain planning permission without affordable housing at some point in the future, so consequently the landowner is more than willing to sit on his investment.

As a small building firm, I do not have deep pockets and want to be working as soon as possible. I really hope that I can build these bungalows for Easingwold.

Yours sincerely

Daniel Warrington
